GROWING FORWARD

Insight sessions about the future of Chicago's Community Gardens

We're calling Chicago's community garden leaders to this first session of a year-long collaboration to make our city's gardens sustainable and vibrant. We need your insight about how, together, we can more effectively use our garden resources, plant new gardens, communicate and support each other, and help our gardens achieve their highest potential.

Sessions will be scheduled throughout the day as part of the Green & Growing Fair. For more information and details about how to sign up, please visit our website:
